

Internet Account Access (iNet) Authorization and Release

Terms of use:

By accepting the terms of this Authorization and Release, you agree the General Terms of Use contained on the East Coast Lumber & Building Supply Company, Inc. (ECL) web site, as well as the provisions contained herein. All account holders and authorized users are to keep user names and passwords confidential. ECL is not responsible for the failure of the Account Holder to safeguard this confidential information. Account Holders must immediately notify the ECL Accounting Department if there has been a breach in this confidential information or alleged unauthorized use of this internet account access system.

By signing below your are requesting that ECL activate your store account for use on-line via iNet, the secured internet access system. You acknowledge the right of ECL to terminate your access to the iNet system at any time for any reason. You agree to hold ECL harmless from any harm arising from your use of the ECL web site or the use by any authorized holder listed below. You agree that you are solely responsible for designating the security access level of any authorized users listed below.

The Account Holder shall immediately notify ECL, in writing, of any change to the level of security as noted above, including any additions or deletions of authorized users.

All submitted prices are subject to change/approval by ECL before order will be placed.

Account Holder:

Print Name: _____ ECL Acct. # _____

I authorize the following names to have access to my on-line account with the noted level of security:

Name	*Accounts On-line	Order Pro	User name

* Accounts on-line provides account access to balances, documents, invoice history and statements.
  Order Pro provides the ability to create orders and estimates, check current open orders, and search our inventory listing for availability and pricing.

I, the Account Holder and/or authorized representative signing on behalf of the account holder, assumes all responsibility for authorized signers on this account using the iNet service and this web site and agree to hold ECL harmless for any disclosure or other use of the information relating to the account, including but not limited to, divulging account information, account balances or past due accounts related to specific customers of the account.

Account Holder signature

_____ Date _____